1 Aural Blaster PIONEER SUSANO SC-LX90

You might want to soundproof your abode before you let rip. What else can you expect from an amplifier named after the Japanese God of storm and seas? The Susano is a massive (35.5kg) powerhouse that promises to deliver sound that's powerful, three-dimensional and captivating. It even digitally restores audio data that's been lost through file compression, boosting sound quality right from the source. The Susano is also capable of delivering a total power output of 1,400 watts (average amplifiers deliver about half the output) over 10 channels, so you'll be guaranteed that it remains distortion-free even when pumped up to the highest volume. It's time to rock.

2 Vibrating Fun VB MAX PLUS

Remember the Nimzy Vibro that made its debut in the local gadget scene with the uncanny ability to generate sound when pressed against a surface? Now this amazing cube is back with a 50-per-cent sound quality improvement and most notably, it boasts a rechargeable battery that does away with all wiring connections. According to a spokesperson, the best surface that amplifies the Max Plus' sound quality is wood – perfect for barbecue parties. This is a product that looks as good as it sounds: Its aural production is still as full and powerful as a good pair of stereo speakers.
